

Not only are forests important as a source of wood but they are a wonderful place to visit and have fun. Fill in the blank spaces at the top of the chart with some more leisure activities that you might find in the forest besides walking and cycling.

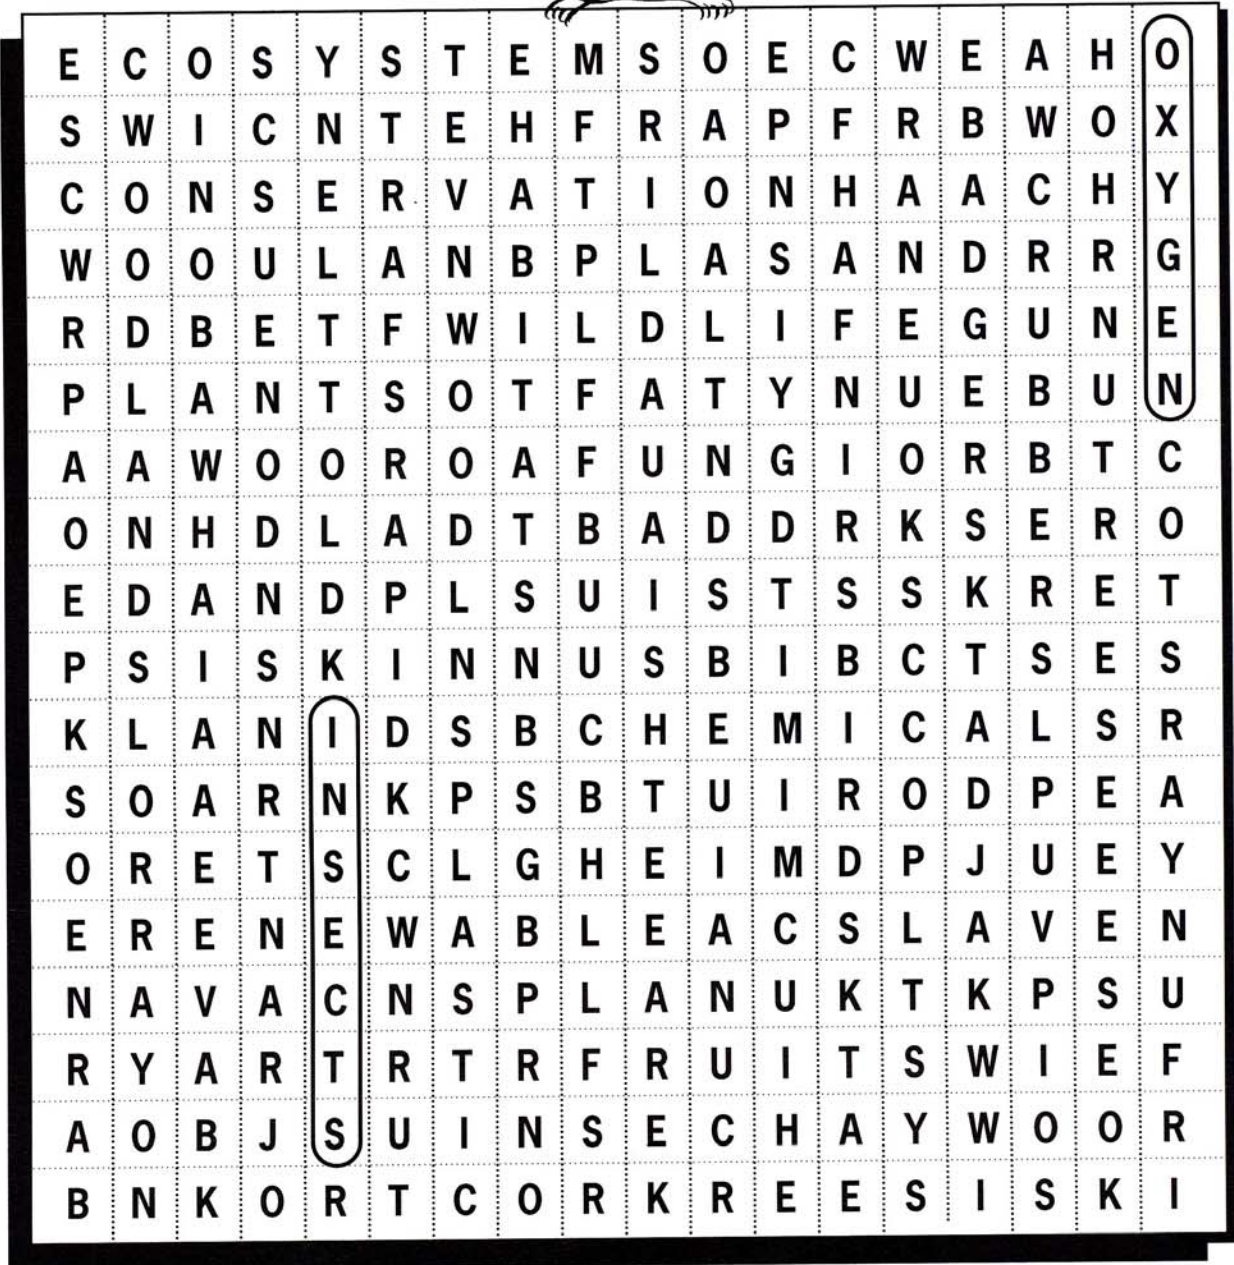

Keep the grid hidden from 20 of your friends while you ask them to tell you which activities they would expect to find in the forest.
Place a tick under the ones they mention. Write extra activities under 'Other'.
